

GrandeTex Development Co., Ltd.

Sustainable is RIGHT way

GrandeTex is a functional textile expert who offers a wide range of functional fabrics for workwear, athleisure, outdoor and indoor products.

With the development of human civilization and global climate issues, topics like "sustainability" have become the mainstream in all kinds of economic models. And this is what GrandeTex is continuously working on and realizes the products with BlueSign, Oeko-Tex and GRS certificates are not the only way to show how we do for our earth.

In order to achieve our sustainable idea, Secao[®] yarn is the product GrandeTex would like to present to our customers, which is a project cooperated with ATRI (Agricultural Technology Research Institute). By the idea of recycling, reusing the cacao husks from local organic agricultural industries to reduce agricultural waste. Through the combination of the waste husks with our own technology, the decomposing effect of the yarn has been proven by testing. It is a truly sustainable & biodegradable product and perfectly implements the green economy and Cradle to Cradle idea.
