Sheng Ye is a fabric supplier with innovative and sustainable textile solutions. We provide high-tech and functional woven and knit fabrics with high-added value for many leading brands worldwide. Our products enable designers to solve problems, improve products and sell them globally.

Sheng Ye products range from quick-dry and cooling fabrics to warm mid-layers and insulations, to weather and waterproof outerwear. Ultimately, our fabrics keep people warm, dry, cool and comfortable in all conditions. With first-class professionalism and a standardized management system, we can control and supervise the entire supply chain: from weaving and dyeing to the final product, following high standards and high quality. We focus on functional fabrics, and constantly research and development to stay ahead of the curve, quickly solve customer needs and create new value for customer products.

Sheng Ye launched waterproof and moisture-permeable fabrics with the concept of environmental protection and circular economy: Eco Ahead series. In the development stage, the product's life cycle and disposal are taken into consideration. The key factor of a circular economy is mono-fabrics, making them easier to recycle, biodegrade, or upcycle at the end of their life cycle. Eco Ahead is made entirely of recycled materials and equipped with PFC-FREE W/R. Additionally, the high-breathability membrane is the same base material as the fabric and is suitable for any outdoor activity without any impact on the environment.

Without compromising performance and durability, this fabric not only provides comfort and functionality, but also a green future for the next generation.

When the fabric reaches its end of life, it can be recycled and used again, starting a new journey, and creating a circular life.
